Presentation Title: ONE HOUR ENDO: IS IT POSSIBLE?

Can root canal treatment be done in one hour? Patients have gotten used to the idea that root canal treatment entails not only pain, but also several long and tedious visits to the dentist before treatment can be completed. This topic will discuss the factors that can affect treatment time for endodontics, what are the cases where we should go for a single-visit or multiple-visit approach to our management, and what are some tips and techniques that can help us produce a more efficient work flow to get treatment time to a minimum without compromising on proper management.
